

Scenario 1:

You find yourself giving directions 4 to 5 times before the students are complying with the instructions.

Why might this be occurring? What can you do to resolve the situation?

Scenario 2:

At the beginning of the club, the students are wandering around the classroom and minor behavior problems are taking place. What procedures could be put in place to alleviate these issues?

Scenario 3:

A student sitting in the middle of the class has to be constantly reminded to stop talking. When this is addressed with her, she argues with you and states that she was just asking a question. How could you handle this behavior?

Scenario 4:

Some of your students are feeling curious and they are picking up items that belong to the classroom teacher. You told them last week that they must only handle SCFG materials. How do you handle the situation?
